PERSONAL PROJECTS

Would You Rather (05/2022 - 05/2022)

- To solidify my understanding of React and Redux while expressing my creativity, I practiced improving the predictability of application's state; established strict rules for getting, listening, and updating the store; and identified what state should live inside of Redux and what state should live inside of React components.

Blogging project (11/2022 - 01/2023)

- Built a fullstack Web application to better improve my understanding of consuming apis, I built the UI of a blogging website using Angular. The data use originates from the api I earlier build using Nodejs and Mongodb.
